

Action for PSE Change WORKSHEET

Step 4: Review – Assess Feasibility of Interventions

Use this worksheet as you consider project feasibility – it will help you develop a strategy for turning your ideas, goals and objectives into action.

Are your goals and objectives feasible in the current economic and political environment? Consider the following:

- What authorizing environment(s)/setting(s) must you work within?
- Who are the gatekeepers and decision makers in this environment/setting?
- Do key stakeholders hold assumptions or biases that need to be addressed or mitigated? How might you do this?
- Has someone already taken a stand on the issue(s)? If so, what happened?
 - How might this impact your PSE change efforts?

What is your group’s capacity to implement this PSE change? Consider the following:

- What resources exist to promote and implement your PSE change?
- Are there well-resourced opponents who might attempt to counter your promotion and implementation efforts?
- What resources do you still need to accomplish your goals and objectives?
 - Will your activities cost money? If so, where will that money come from?
- What are the barriers to implementing the PSE change? Can they be overcome?
- Now that your PSE change activities are better defined, are there additional partners who might have resources or be able to help the group overcome unforeseen or anticipated barriers?
 - How can you bring them to the table?
- Do the original goals and objectives need to be redefined based on this information?
