Which of the following are goals of doing a thorough contextual assessment?

- Ensuring a match between the intervention and the needs and resources of the population of interest
- Evaluating the effectiveness of an intervention
- Developing a plan for sustainability
- Designing a research project testing implementation strategies

Which of the following is an example of an inner setting factor creating a barrier to implementation?

- The complexity of coordinating transportation to cancer screening
- Health insurance policies will not cover the screening under current law
- Staff do not know the latest evidence for breast cancer screening
- The organization does not expect, reward, or support innovation

The site you are working with has identified the major barrier in their context assessment as people not having knowledge about the intervention and therefore most people do not believe that the intervention will be effective. What domain does this represent?

- Inner Context
- Individuals
- Outer Context
- Process
